Alyssa Johnson
Solutions Architect
Solution Beacon

Alyssa Johnson of Solution Beacon has numerous years of experience in utilizing her knowledge and proficiency in both Oracle Release 11i and Release 12 Applications to provide functional support for existing financial systems as well as managing the overall implementation of new projects. Since the launch of Release 12, her primary focus has been on analyzing the new functionality and significant changes to the Application, understanding the functional impact to customers wishing to upgrade or re-implement, and developing strategies for successful implementations of Release 12.

She is one of the primary authors of the Release 12 Primer and has presented on a variety of Release 12 topics at OAUG conferences including Collaborate 08. She has also served as the functional analyst on several Release 12 upgrade readiness assessments and as an advisor on Release 12 implementations.

She lives in Fort Worth, Texas with her husband, Kelly, and two daughters.
